

THE MORNING APPEAL.

The Official Paper of Ormsby County.
SUNDAYMARCH 3

"Baldy" Nixon as a Musical Critic.

The TRIBUNE gets down to dirty business when it speaks of the playing of the Noble sisters on the cornet and trombone as "very punk," and further insinuates that they are not even passable amateurs. The musical selections rendered by Misses Pearl and Maud Noble are said, and we believe them to have been, one of the best and most enjoyable features of the Inaugural Ball. As is well known the sisters, Miss Pearl especially, stand high in their art and fortunately do not require the recommendation of the TRIBUNE's musical critic to sustain that position. It is just such contemptible slings as the above from the TRIBUNE and others of its ilk that have done great harm to this State, as people abroad, seeing them, think that they reflect the sentiments of the people of this State. Here of course sources are considered and so well known that it is not often the trouble is taken to contradict their lying utterances. The "sour grapes" attempt of the TRIBUNE to give the Inaugural Ball and its management an underhanded dig is one of the cases mentioned, but it is regrettable that the editor of that sheet saw fit to pursue the shameless course he did to carry out his design. In this connection it is worthy of note that the playing of the Noble sisters was very highly praised by the other Carson papers, as well as the correspondents of other papers who wrote up the ball. It is to be presumed that their knowledge of music is as complete as that of the recently imported California "geyser"—Silver State.

Yesterday's Fight.

There was a large crowd gathered at Joe Platts yesterday afternoon, and the Sheriff went up to clear the sidewalk. "Stop that fight," he shouted. "Oh go home," was the reply, your're of your trolley. Its only some new samples of Spring clothes, and we want to watch 'em before the rush gets in." The Sheriff cooled down and purchased a suit himself.
